About the FDP

Teaching –Learning is the germinating process in which many revolutionary changes and innovative plans of action take place constantly. As a result, students can be well benefitted. A teacher believes and follows the standard ways of teaching practices. Based on the technological growth, he/she uses various online platforms to meet the students' requirements. He/she plans accordingly to train students effectively, intelligibly and eloquently. Research and Development is the other side of coin for a teacher to deal with at a professional college. Many of strongly the teaching fraternity usually register for their PhD's but very few of them excel successfully in their attempts.

As the title itself reveals, the expertise in both the teachinglearning and progressive research methods can be offered, shared and assessed during the FDP sessions.
